The aftermarket serves the appliance
repair industry.

We strive to produce replacement
parts that have undeniable quality, value to service technicians, and are economically viable.

Federal regulations now require the use of R600 refrigerant.

However, a small spark can cause the appliance to explode!

- SO WHY DO THEY REQUIRE R600!? -

On 16 September 1987, the United Nations signed the Montreal Protocol

The Montreal Protocol is an international treaty designed to protect the ozone layer by phasing out the production of numerous substances that are responsible for ozone depletion - namely Chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs)

BUT THERE IS STILL AN ISSUE... Hydrofluorocarbons (HFCs) (like appliances use in refrigerants) HOW? HFC'S DON'T CONTAIN CHLORINE, SO THE PROTOCOL DOESN'T APPLY

SNUCK PAST THE REGULATIONS...

THIS LED TO A U.N. AMMENDMENT IN 2016

SIGNED OCTOBER 15, 2016 in Kigali, Rwanda

The Kigali Amendment to the Montreal Protocol was created to gradually reduce the consumption and production of HFC's.

RESULTING IN THE INTRODUCTION OF R600

SO, WHY USE R600?

R600 refrigerant, butane, is a natural refrigerant suitable for many refrigeration applications.

R600 IS ENVIRONMENTALLY FRIENDLY AND EFFICIENT
R600 is a commonly used refrigerant with low environmental impact and good thermodynamic performance.

R600 IS A NATURAL REFRIGERANT
R600 is a hydrocarbon, Isobutane, and has zero Ozone Depletion Potential. There is no risk of damaging the Ozone.

R600 HAS LOW POWER CONSUMPTION
When used in refrigeration applications, R600 uses less power than traditional RFC refrigerants.
